CYCLONE RIPS THROUGH OHIO, KILLING THREE

Medina Barn Collapses, Stove Upsets, Fire Follows.

TOLEDO SUFFERS Trees Uprooted and Cellars Flooded in Akron.

Three dead, several injured, and property damage that may mount higher than $100,000 was left in the wake of the wind of cyclonic proportions which ripped and veered through Ohio yesterday, it became known today as state-wide check-ups were made.

Woman Fatally Burned. Mrs. Frank Schultz was killed, her husband was severely burned and a son was injured when a barn in which the trio had sought shelter on their farm near Medina, collapsed under the tornado-like breath of the wind, upsetting a small coal stove and setting fire to the shed. Mrs. Schultz was totally burned.

At Cleveland, George Hraby, 14-year-old newsboy, was killed by lightning when he sought shelter under a tree. Trees were blown down and other property damaged from flooded streets and cellars was reported at Cleveland.

Mrs. Sarah Miller, 74, was killed at Millersburg when she was run down by an automobile. The driver was said to have been blinded by the heavy rain.

Airplane Hangar Topples.

At Toledo, a real twister, seldom seen in Ohio, tore through the southern section of that city, tore a roof from a large workshop and hurled it across a street into a telephone pole. A school near the workshop, in which hundreds of pupils were quartered, was narrowly missed by the twister.

Akron was probably in the hardest hit section. Barns were blown down, trees were uprooted and cellars were flooded by the accompanying rain.

The airplane hangar at Barberton, near Akron, was swept from its foundation and toppled over, causing $15,000 loss.

About 800 chickens were killed when the near-tornado hit the farm of L. J. Libis, in the Akron district.

Lightning Strikes Barn.

Sixteen sheep, 14 lambs, a horse and a cow were killed, and 100 tons of hay was burned when lightning struck and Lightning, Home-Made. Girls, East and West. Fist and Brain. E. F. Carry, Good Worker.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE. (Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

A "DEATH RAY MACHINE," secretly manufactured in San Francisco, is said to produce 3,000,000 volts of man-made lightning, powerful enough to kill at a great distance.

THIS powerful lightning, made by man, produces an electric spark that will jump across 13 feet.

Celestial lightning still holds the record, however, by a comfortable margin. The flash of lightning, seen in the sky, is an electric spark that jumps across the average eight miles.

THE 17-year-old Eastern girl Elinor Smith, took away the endurance record from Louise McPhetridge Thaden, of California, with five hours to spare.

Some California girl will take it from her, of course. Miss Smith, marvelous American girl, made her record out of order, she held steady the stick of her heavy plane, and remained aloft, alone, 27 hours.

MR. TUNNEY, world heavyweight champion, retired, has been visiting George Bernard Shaw on a small, sunny island in the Adriatic sea.

Tunney is barely 30, Shaw is 73. And Shaw, who has NOT retired, has no idea of retiring.

The head lasts longer than the fists.

THE death of E. F. Carry, president of the Pullman Company, is a great loss to efficient industrial and business management.

Mr. Carry, improving constantly the comfort and luxury of Pullman equipment, worked intelligently for his stockholders.

IN ADDITION, he increased comfort by day, and sound sleep at night for a great army of travelers whose efficiency is so important to this country.

Mr. Carry was a worthy successor to George M. Pullman, originator of

SENATE TO O. K. HOOVER STAND ON FARM AID

Poll Shows Export De-benture Plan Will Fail.

9-VOTE MARGIN
Forty-eight Republicans And Five Democrats Pledged.

Copyrighted, 1929, by International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(INS)—President Hoover's rejection of the export de-benture plan of farm relief will be endorsed by the Senate by at least a nine-vote margin, it was revealed today by an International News Service poll.

The poll showed 48 senators—43 Republicans and 5 Democrats—pledged against the de-benture form of relief. This "last ditch" strength assured victory to the president, since it is an exact majority of the Senate, where only 95 senators are now serving.

The poll also revealed only 37 senators—8 Republicans, 1 Farmer-Laborite and 29 Democrats—pledged in favor of the de-benture, compared with the 48 opposed. The remaining ten senators announced they had not yet decided how they would vote. Of these ten however, there were indications four would support the president, giving him a nine-vote margin of victory—52 to 43—even if the other side voted for the de-benture plan. Changes in the schedules of three Cleveland division passenger trains—two westbound and one eastbound—will become effective next Sunday when daylight savings time is adopted in Pittsburgh and western Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania Ticket Agent James Hodgkinson announced today.

Changes in the westbound schedule are the Pittsburgh-Cleveland train, which has been arriving here at 7:58 a. m., and the Pittsburgh-Bellair train due at 9:45 a. m. Under the new plan, the first train will leave Pittsburgh at 5:30 a. m. instead of 6:15 a. m., arriving in East Liverpool at 7:23 a. m. The other train will leave Pittsburgh at 8:05 a. m., arriving in East Liverpool at 9:50, five minutes later than the present schedule.

Other westbound trains will arrive here at 3:35 and 6:26 p. m. The Sunday schedule is the same as the week day.

The lone change in the east-bound runs is the Wellsville-Pittsburgh train, due here at 4:44 p. m. and arriving in Pittsburgh at 6:55. This train will arrive here at 3:49 p. m. and is due in Pittsburgh at 5:35.

Other eastbound trains will arrive at 11:45 a. m. and 6:43 p. m. The same schedule will prevail on Sundays.

Passengers from Pittsburgh on the westbound train leaving Pittsburgh at 8:05 a. m. must change trains at Rochester, making the rest of the trip aboard a gas-electric car. The eastbound train arriving here at 3:49 p. m. is also of the gas-electric type as far as Rochester, where a change will be necessary.

Says "Orange Root" Rid Her of Choking Spells, Gas Pains

Mrs. Nannie K. Holland Wins Great Victory Over Dreadful Stomach Trouble Which Tortured Her for 10 Long Years and Almost Made an Invalid of Her — Everything She Eats Agrees With Her Now She Says.

Mrs. Nannie K. Holland of Columbia Avenue, Chester, near East Liverpool, O., is just another happy woman today for she has won a great victory over a terrible case of stomach trouble which for 10 years almost proved her undoing. She gives all the credit to "ORANGE ROOT" the King of Tonics, in the following manner: "For 10 years I have been a victim of a severe case of stomach trouble, and never found a thing in all those years that did me a single bit of good, altho I tried numerous remedies supposed to be helpful for my ailments. Gas pains would shoot all thru my stomach immediately after eating, and at times would cause dreadful smothering and choking spells, accompanied by intense and almost unbearable pains in the region of my heart. I could scarcely get my breath, and my heart pounded so fast I could not even count the pulsations. I became nervous, and when almost a nervous wreck, and almost too weak and rundown to get about, heard about this great ORANGE ROOT, and immediately decided to give it a trial, for so many of my friends had been restored to health thru its use. After taking only 3 bottles of it I CONSIDER MYSELF A WELL WOMAN. All those dreadful gas pains, smothering spells and other weak-

500 School Students In May Day Exercises

Entire School System to be Represented in Hammond Park Spectacle; Senior Class Play Plans are Launched.

WELLSVILLE, O., April 26. — Approximately 500 students of the public school system will take part in the annual May day exercises to be held next month at Hammond park as one of the concluding, and outstanding, exercises of the school year.

Rehearsals and other activities leading up to the presentation of the spectacle are already well under way.

The high school has selected its "May queen," Miss Inez Ferrell, a senior, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Ferrell of Seventeenth street.

Dave Evans, boys' athletic director, and Miss Hazel Donaldson, coach of girls' basketball, will collaborate in arranging and supervising the special drill work that will be staged by the high school students.

Students of the second and third grades will wind May poles and the first year youngsters likely will appear in short exercises.

Preliminary arrangements also have been launched for the annual senior class play. The dates were announced as Monday and Tuesday, May 13 and 14.

As an innovation in the presentation of the class production, two casts, instead of the customary one, will be used. One group of students will enact the play the first night and an entirely new cast will appear the second night.

"Mr. Pym Passes By" is the title of the production.

SCHOOL HEADS TO MEET HERE

S. E. Daw, superintendent of schools, has launched arrangements for the spring meeting of the Columbian County Schoolmasters' club, which will be held here Monday, May 13.

County school authorities will get together in the near future, also, to determine a site for the annual county interscholastic track and field meet.

HIGH TRACKERS IN 'QUAD' MEET

Will Compete in Contests at Weirton Tomorrow.

Coach Dave Evans' Wellsville High school track and field athletes, originally scheduled to compete with Toronto trackers in a dual meet tomorrow afternoon at Nicholson field, will match strength and skill with three other valley schools, instead, in a quadrangular meet in Weirton.

Follansbee will be the fourth school in the meet.

The Orange and Black track squad has been working out as much as possible in view of weather conditions.

The contests tomorrow will be their first actual taste of competition prior to the annual county meet next month.

HAMMONDSVILLE YOUTH ENGINEER

Harold I. Gal, of Hammondsburg, is one of a group of 93 engineering students at Ohio State university who left this week for various parts of the state and nation on the annual inspection trips, sponsored by the College of Engineering.

Gall, a junior in the department of mechanical engineering, was slated to inspect factories and plants in Detroit and Cleveland before returning to school next Monday.

The students going on the inspection trips are in charge of professors in the College of Engineering. The trips are parts of the course given in the college.

SEVEN PENNSY MEN PROMOTED

Awards Also are Made For Heroic Service.

The directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad company today authorized the following official appointments:

J. K. Johnston, at present superintendent of the Tyrone division, becomes assistant general superintendent, East Pennsylvania division. The separate existence of the Tyrone division will be discontinued and its lines merged with the Williamsport and Middle divisions.

W. B. McCaleb, at present engineer of water service, is promoted to general superintendent water service.

J. A. Russell, at present engineer of water companies, becomes engineer of water service, succeeding McCaleb.

R. H. Miller, at present assistant general freight agent at Pittsburgh, is advanced to general freight agent in that city, succeeding W. McL. Pomeroy, who on April 1 was promoted to general freight agent at Philadelphia.

E. B. Hankey, at present assistant general freight agent at Buffalo, succeeds assistant general freight agent at Pittsburgh, succeeded by Uncle Sam during the World war.

McGill served with the 114th engineers, spending 11 months overseas with this unit. He saw plenty of excitement in the Meuse-Argonne.

Prior to going to the army, McGill had spent several years at St. John's college, Toledo. At the close of the war a special government order permitted the service men, whose college education had been interrupted, to take four-month courses in French and English schools.

Your City Servant

Mirrors of Wellsville Municipal Family

R. D. McGill

R. D. McGill, city engineer, came to Wellsville almost seven years ago as resident engineer for the W. J. Sherman company, of Toledo.

The Sherman company at the time was supervising the engineering work on the city's gravity water system, now in use. But McGill gradually came to assist the city in so many other engineering problems that council decided to keep him.

So, at the conclusion of his work for the Sherman company, he became a member of the municipal family and has been here ever since.

McGill was born in Kansas but spent most of his boyhood in Milwaukee. His parents have their home now at Carey, near Toledo.

He has held several engineering connections since his school days. In addition to his position with the Sherman company, he has been employed in similar capacities by the United States Coal company which has mines near Smithfield, Jefferson county, and by the Nebraska highway department. And last, but not least, he was an engineer for Uncle Sam during the World war.

Early Strawberries $5 Each.

Parisians who enjoy strawberries early in the season have had an opportunity to do so 40 days ahead of time. That is, they did if they had the price. By using two 1,200 watt electric lamps as a substitute for the sun, George Truffaut and M. Thureyssen, scientists of Paris, forced the berries to grow in 40 instead of the usual 80 days. The cost of each berry, so grown, was $5.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 26.—The aviation companies are now laying their plans to "own the air."

Only a few years ago the idea of anybody's owning the air was purely a jest. We laughingly complained that if prices of this or that kept going up, somebody pretty soon would be selling the air we breathe, but we did not seriously anticipate such a thing. Then along came radio development, and broadcasting stations began to own certain rights in the air, the rights to operate established wave lengths and with established power under permits from the federal radio commission.

Now comes aviation, preparing to claim its share of air ownership. The big money and big brains which are now behind much of the aeronautical development in America now clearly foresee the time when the air is going to be all cluttered up with flying machines. When this happens your Uncle Sam is going to be called upon to rush into the maelstrom and straighten it out. Everybody is not going to be able to operate flying machines every place that everyone wants to. There is going to be a law about it. When that happens, somebody is going to secure certain rights to operate air lines between certain points. These franchises, whatever form they take, will mean the ownership of the air, and that is what farsighted aeronautical operators are looking forward to.

To some air operators it appears probable that the interstate commerce commission will be the official body which must first take cognizance of air transport as a public utility which will require regulating. The hauling of passengers, express and freight by air already enters into competition with railroads and motor vehicles. At present any company having licensed planes and licensed pilots is at liberty to start an air passenger line from any point in the United States to any other point. It may also haul express and freight. The United States government will not bother it with any regulations except as to safety of machines and tested ability of pilots and a few simple rules about flying over cities and keeping to the right.

With the rapid development of the industry, it is quite apparent that within a very few years Uncle Sam will have to take the air situation in hand and regulate it. Just how he will do it remains to be seen, but the big operators are doing their best to be prepared for that time. They have observed that when Uncle Sam took charge of the radio channels in the ether, the broadcasting stations which were first in the field had the first claim to the wave lengths and power which they desired. The law allowed them a sort of right of discovery and possession. The fact that they had spent money in developing certain franchises in the air was more or less automatically recognized. Hence the aeronautical companies are getting themselves forearmed with this sort of established, unwritten franchises.

The first steps thus to secure an established right to an air route are being taken by two of the great railroad systems, which have had plenty of experience with this question of government regulation of transportation. The Pennsylvania system on the east and the Santa Fe system on the west of the Mississippi river have joined hands in organizing Transcontinental air transport, a company which will start this summer to operate a joint rail and air route from New York to Los Angeles. These railroads, in other words, are going to own the first air line which competes with their rail lines. They are spending millions of dollars in developing this first operating transcontinental passenger air system. While they undoubtedly expect to operate for profit, or to develop their operations until they become profitable, they are also making this investment with a view to being in on the ground floor of transcontinental passenger operation. If any basic rights are to accrue in air routes, these roads will have the rights which parallel their ground lines.

Will air routes come to be treated by law like railroads or like established bus lines? Will companies be secured in their right to certain routes, and compelled in return to act as public carriers and have their rates regulated? Will airports be treated as public utilities either in state, or interstate, commerce? Some such regulation appears inevitable as the air industry grows, and the farsighted management of the industry is looking forward and getting ready to meet whatever legal requirements develop. Those first in the field with established operations are reasonably sure to have a certain franchise right which will probably get some sort of recognition when the time comes for Uncle Sam to step in and decide who is going to own the air.

Questions And Answers

By Frederick J. Haskin.

Q. Where is the original draft of the Declaration of Independence? P. N.

A. Thomas Jefferson's original draft and the broad-armed chair on which the document was written are owned by the American Philosophical Society in Philadelphia.

Q. How many landscape gardeners are there? S. R.

A. Landscape architecture is a recently developed profession. The census of 1920 recognized 4461 landscape architects or landscape gardeners, and the 1930 census will surely list many more.

Q. Are there any places that have not been explored? A. L.

A. There are as yet remote, unexplored regions in Africa and the jungles of Brazil which have not been penetrated by white men.

Q. What relation has the cat's whiskers to its sense of smell? R. E. I.

A. A cat's whiskers have no relation to its sense of smell. Although a cat's eyesight is excellent, at night it is supplemented by the highly sensitive feelers or long hairs that project from the muzzle and above the eyes, each springing from a follicle from which a special nerve communicates with the brain. With the use of these a cat is able to feel its way about in the dark without difficulty.

Q. Is any pupil of Franz Liszt still living? I. McN.

A. The death of James Madison Tracy of Denver leaves but one pupil of this master in this country, as far as we know. He is John Orth of Boston. He was born in Germany but was brought to America when one year old.

He has taught music in Boston since 1875, and gives recitals, one of which, An Evening With Liszt, is composed of Liszt's music interspersed with reminiscences of his association with the famous teacher.

Q. How can a dustless dustcloth be made? J. N. C.

A. Saturate a suitable piece of cloth with kerosene, and lay aside until the surplus oil has evaporated. Rub it on a wooden surface until it no longer leaves a streak and it is ready for use. The cloth should be well-shaken after each use and re-oiled about once a month.

Q. Since the Russian Soviets have no belief in the Supreme God, what kind of obligation do officials assume when induced into office? R. C. R.

A. The Soviet officials make no oath or affirmation on taking office, but agree to serve the State.

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundt.

Make The Most of Modern Methods. The most important moment in any deal is the beginning.

If the beginning is haphazard, the results will be unsatisfactory.

If you don't begin, you accomplish nothing at all.

But there is something that goes before action, na that's thought.

Don't let your mind wander.

Take up your problem and continue it to its finish, and then put it to practical use.

Two women were discussing the uses of electricity in the home.

They were enumerating the many hours they could have to themselves and the extra pleasures, all because of the use of modern methods.

But one could not seem to get her meals on time.

The thought that bothered her was that it would not be worked out by the old rules she had employed so many years.

If she could not begin in a way that was familiar, she wanted to give up.

Modern methods require forethought and orderly beginnings, proper contacts, less hurry. Then you can expect results.

Are you running your home intelligently?

If we consider the frequent reliefs we receive from laughter, and how often it breaks the gloom which is apt to depress the mind and damp our spirits, with transient, unexpected gleams of joy, one would care not to grow too wise for so great a pleasure of life.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Thoughts while strolling: Why do restaurants always run out of lemon meringue pie? For shop sign: "Say it with sausages!" And go into bankruptcy. One Munson. Not difficult on the eye. Silk limousine cushions for dogs—$30. What's become of Scott Fitzgerald? Not that I'm worried.

Patient souls who read books on windy bus tops. Sam Hellman, a St. Louis boy, who made good in the city. Plays for "Four Weeks Only"—meaning they'll try to last that long. How do they get all that stuff in a delicatessen window? Jeanne Eagels. In 18-foot-high movie lights. Ah, there Equity!

The Broadway drug stores featuring theatrical makeup. Wish I could borrow a Roxie usher uniform and descend on the old home town. Blue kitchens. Rotisseries. Waffle parlors. Sandwich bars with spiced pink ham in the window. And onion sausage with friend apple rings. I'm drooling!

And see those luncheon specials! Banana float with whipped cream. Angel food with chocolate frosting. Apple pudding with golden sauce. H. N. Swanson, the collegiate looking editor of College Humor. In a pinch I can go three weeks without seeing another picture of Grover Whalen. He's too all-fired handsome.

Why do famous musicians dress funny? Those mystery novels, partly sealed. Shops where everybody is so busy being polite they forget to wait on you. Fewer dress suit renting parlors. Early Sparling who prowls about queer, hidden corners for newspaper copy. Add goliathine candidates! Orchestra leaders who feature themselves as lady killers.

Wonder if Truly Warner is his real name. The Duncan Sisters have both gone blonde. Theaters still slumping, but the best seats still go to agencies. The Floridian tangs begin to pale. Add beautiful New York views; The Grand Central building, spanning Park avenue, lighted up at dusk.

The new type of speakeasy with pink lights and shell satin effects. And a tasty window display for the camouflage. But as recognizable as the prop smile of stage twins. Drooping women on church steps—a beginning trick. There goes a buttery, flying low. Cuthbert the dog cart and my next sir ask him for a match.

It is astonishing what New York can do with abandoned attics and garrets. The most comfortable and hospitable havens in town are several flights up through dim-lit halls. The

"Another Body."

Speaker Longworth's address after his re-election expresses what may be called not only the corporate feeling of the house as to the interminable delays and obstructions of the senate, but the general feeling of the country. Rebuking in parliamentary phrase the chamber too august to name, he laid on it the blame for preventing the census and reapportionment bills from becoming law. Too long delays are the chief characteristic of "another body." Indirectly, but none the less tellingly, he whacked at the Windy Don Pomposities of the senate. For six or seven years statesmen have relieved themselves of a full collection of views on farm relief. Why not do something about it with a reasonable quickness instead of sowing the pages of the Congressional Record with another excess crop?

The senate committee on agriculture has its own scheme of farm relief. Mr. Longworth can hardly have any expectation that the senate will come to be "deliberate." "Another body" is beyond time and insusceptible to the spite of the thermometer. Mr. Longworth is for limited tariff revision.

Amusements

PULITZER PRIZE STORY FILM HIT

WALLACE BEERY IN GREAT ROLE

In "Saturday's Children," her new First National production, which ran its local showing at the State theater yesterday, Corinne Griffith, in her superb beauty and ability, reaches entirely new high heights in fine interpretation of Bobby Hall, a working girl, with very modern as on the subject of matrimony. "Saturday's Children" is a domestic of the more intimate type, which depends for its interest and entertainment value not upon spectacular backgrounds, gaudy mountings, or sentimentalism, but upon its man qualities, its stark realism, its found philosophy and deep feeling.

It deals with the disconcerting destiny of young men and women in today. Miss Griffith is ably supported by Bert Withers, her new leading man, who is a fine upstanding American less concerned about his problem than his desire to be convincing. Withers will bear watching.

Bert Conti, gives a smooth and stirring performance as Mr. Men, Bobby's employer, and Alma Tell, the sister, Charles Lane, as the father, Anne Schaeffer, as the mother, Helen Littlefield, as the brother-in-law, and Marcia Harris, as the boarding house landlady, also contributing adequately to the supporting cast.

This setting of intrigue, mystery and absorbing suspense, Florence Vidor performs one of her most dramatic parts. She is superb in the difficult role which turns her from a bright society butterfly into an abject creature, too depraved for pity or scorn. Opposite Beery, she has the opportunity for a great triumph.

An excellent group of screen artists, including Warner Oland and Jack Oakie, are in the cast.

Rev. J. J. Prosser Speaks
In Retreat Services.

The divine origin of the Catholic church was the basis of the sermon last night of the Rev. John J. Prosser, Redemptorist, of Lima, at the annual retreat for men and women in the St. Alloysius Catholic church, West Fifth street.

Father Prosser traced the history of the church, and cited the trials and persecutions which had ever confronted it, which he declared stamped it as the true church of Jesus Christ. He dwelt at length on the laws and regulations of the church and flayed the indifference of those who failed to steadfastly practice their religion.

The Forty Hours' devotion began in the church this morning with solemn high mass at 9 o'clock. The services will close Sunday night with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament and imparting of the Papal blessing.

Confessions will be heard from 3 to 6 o'clock this afternoon and during and following the services tonight. The same hours will prevail tomorrow.

AMERICANS WIN AT MOORTOWN

Visiting Golfers Get
First Leg of Ryder
Cup.

By F. A. WRAY,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

MOORTOWN, England, April 26.—(INS)—Leo Diegel, of New Mexico, and Al Espinosa, of Chicago, the "flashies" of the American Ryder cup team, today easily defeated their opponents, George Duncan, and Andrew Boomer, in 33 holes of match play.

The American pair won, seven up and five to play.

MOORTOWN, England, April 26.—The American team today won the first leg of the 1929 Ryder cup by winning the foursome matches 2 1/2 points to 1 1/2 for the British.

The Americans won two of the four matches, lost one match, and halved one match with the British.

The result was in doubt almost until the finish of the final foursome match, that of Walter Hagen and Johnny Golden against Henry Cotton and E. R. Whitehead.

The matches, played in the very worst sort of weather, were witnessed by an estimated crowd of 10,000 persons, who had gathered on the links in anticipation of seeing some premier golf.

They were not disappointed, as in the opening rounds the Americans, particularly Diegel and Espinosa, flashed brand of golf seldom seen in this, or any other country.

GOVERNOR SIGNS WENDT MEASURE

COLUMBUS, O., April 26.—(INS)—Gov. Myers Y. Cooper this afternoon attached his approving signature to the Wendt bill, making general appropriations, aggregating approximately $120,000,000, from state funds.

This measure will become effective as soon as it is filed with the secretary of state. It provides for payment of state governmental operating expenses during the coming years, including highway construction and various improvements such as erection of new buildings, etc.

The governor did not veto any of the items contained in the bill as it passed the state legislature.

Grave 3,000 Years Old Found.

Believed to be more than 3,000 years old, an Early Bronze Age grave was found recently on a farm near Edinburgh, Scotland. It contained a small food urn in which, archaeologists say, a child had been buried, the sandy soil having eaten away the entire body.

Lewis is making the trip in the interests of the American Chinaware corporation, a merger of six eastern Ohio pottery companies. The Saxon company, controlled by the Sebring Manufacturing corporation, is one of the plants in the combine.

Lewis will visit plants in France, Germany and England before returning to the United States.

Officials of the American Ceramic society will accompany the tourists, having mapped an itinerary from the time the party arrives until they leave on the return trip on May 18.

Mellor, of the Sandon House, Stoke-on-Trent; Sir William John Jones, Lady Jones and Miss Jones, 17 Victoria street, Westminster, London; Joseph Burton, Pilkington's Tile & Pottery company, Ltd., Clifton Junction, near Manchester; and Colonel Harry Johnson of the H. & R. ## HISTORICAL SOCIETY DENIES CAPT. BURDICK CAPTURED MORGAN

Officers of the East Liverpool Historical society today refuted the claim the Confederate Veterans and the Sons and Daughters of Confederate Veterans that Captain Burdick, commander of the Columbiana county militia, instead of Major George W. Rue, captured the Confederate raider, General Morgan, on the Crubaugh farm near West Point.

The question was raised at a recent meeting of the Kentucky Confederate Veterans at Lexington, when a resolution was passed, asking that the wording be changed on the monument, erected by the late Will L. Thompson on the Crubaugh farm.

The resolution, which was forwarded to Common Pleas Judge W. F. Lones, asked that the words "surrendered to Major George W. Rue" be deleted and the name of "Captain Burdick, commander of the Columbiana county militia" be substituted. The resolution was signed by J. E. Keller, Lexington, commander of the Confederate Veterans' association of Kentucky.

Judge Lones referred the resolution to Secretary H. B. Barth of the Historical society. Barth has written to the organization asking for substantiation of the claim.

The monument marks the most northern point which a Confederate force reached during the Civil war.

JAIL FUGITIVE ON MURDER COUNT

LOGAN, W. Va., April 26.—(INS)—After being safely escorted through a mob at Abingdon, Va., Paul Glenn, a fugitive from a jail there, was incarcerated in county jail today to await trial on a first-degree murder charge growing out of the death of S. C. Moore, April 23, 1929.

The prisoner, whose "tough" character by police was brought here from Elizabeth, Tenn., where he was necessary at Abingdon, Va., and a mob numbering more than 200, threatened to take Glenn and his officers. The man whom Glenn is accused of killing was a brother of the chief of police in that city. The dead man's wife and four children also live in Abingdon, and sentiment reached a feverish pitch.

MRS. EVELYN ACKLEY.

"When I look back over the past few years and realize how I suffered, and then I think of this new Konjola, it has brought to me in such a short time, I can hardly believe it to be true," said Mrs. Evelyn Ackley, South Hill Street and High Avenue, Washington, D. C.

"I had rheumatism, stomach trouble, kidney ailment and was a nervous wreck. My doctor told me to rest. Everything I ate caused misery."

"Then this glorious Konjola came into my life. Today I am a bright, happy, healthy woman after a treatment of just two weeks. The change that just two bottles have brought over me is wonderful. I have never been so well in my life."

"I am now able to go about the full treatment. No wonder Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a name."

Konjola is sold in East Liverpool

100 MEN ATTEND POWER CLASS BANQUET IN METHODIST CHURCH

Culminating a membership campaign, almost 100 of the 125 men comprising the Power class, taught by Charles R. Royce, of Chester, attended a banquet in the First Methodist Episcopal church last night.

The affair was distinctive in that not one wife, mother or sweetheart of any of the adherents of the organization was present to aid in the cooking and serving, or arranging of the four large tables utilized for the occasion.

Flowers, candles and other effects, usually adorning tables at similar functions were thus conspicuous by their absence. What was lacking in decorations was made up in the quality of the menu. It included roast beef, baked potatoes, cold slaw, dill pickles, brown gravy, jelly, brown and white bread and butter, home made pies with cheese, and coffee.

A committee of the men functioned in the kitchen; another carried the McNutt, chairman of the official board of the church, who was a guest; Charles R. Boyce, the teacher, and T. T. Jones. The concluding prayer was made by Mr. Boyce.

The entire affair was under the supervision of a committee headed by William Prescott. His assistants were W. G. Stephenson, O. E. Hall, Howard Bloor, James Reese, John Paul, Arthur Shone and W. A. Kaiser jr.

With the conclusion of the program, the large dining room was cleared of the tables. Other members of the class functioned in the kitchen, assisting in a quick return to normalcy of that section of the building.

In process of development by the members of the class is a glee club made up of its unmarried men. They have acquired the services of Mark Brownlow, teacher of the Asbury class, to direct them.

BEACH COSTUME

The beach costume this year will be even more important than the swimming suit. There's going to be considerable competition this year among the beach fashion plates. Here's one which holds its own among the snappest, with trousers of fuchsia crepe, blouse of deep blue, and coat of brilliant magenta.

Owa-Ton-Na Benefitted Me
More Than Words Can Tell

Mrs. Judy Advises Women Suffering from Nerves, Headaches, Backaches, Dizziness and a General Run Down Conditions of Health, to Try This Fine Old Indian Remedy.

Thousands of women find in Owa-Ton-Na a particularly beneficial aid in the elimination of harmful toxic poisons which bring about characteristic ailments peculiarly their own. These poisons if allowed to accumulate bring about serious disorders and in the critical age of middle life when the system is unusually taxed, often times a complete breakdown is the result. Owa-Ton-Na's aid in eliminating these poisons is a harmless method of aiding nature and keeping the system up to par.

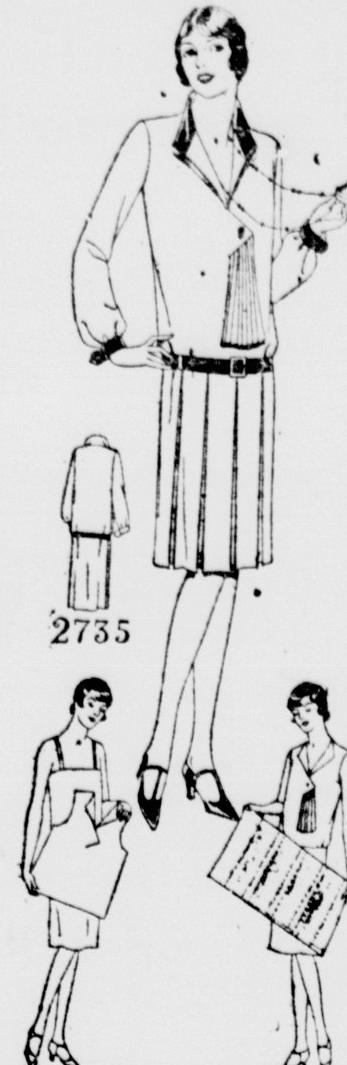

Owa-Ton-Na cleansing effect on the liver and kidneys aids these very important organs in performing their work which results in a better condition of the blood, in order that it may absorb poisons from delicate nerves and send to them good rich, strengthening nourishment. Its cleansing and tonic effect on the stomach, results in better assimilation of properly digested food which in itself proves a remarkable aid in the restoration of strength and vitality, resulting in renewed energy.

One of the remarkable cases where Owa-Ton-Na has proved itself well adapted to aid women is the case of Mrs. Maggie Judy, Ninth St., Chester, W. Va. She says: "For the past ten years my nerves have been constantly on edge. Headaches, dizzy spells and a weakened run down condition seemed to be always present. I was almost at the point of distraction. So tired, I could hardly get around to do my housework. I didn't care whether I saw anyone or not."

"I was terribly constipated yet laxatives gave me no relief. Food I didn't care for. When I ate, I would have terrible attacks of indigestion. Sourness and gas made me short of breath and weak. My kidneys, too, were in terrible condition. Backaches were so bad that at times I could hardly bear them. It just seemed that my whole body ached. Time after time, I have tried new treatments, almost anything that was recommended to me but without results. I had heard so much of Owa-Ton-Na, how it had helped women in a similar condition that I finally was induced to try it."

"Had I done so long before I could have saved myself a lot of misery. So eagerly did I take Owa-Ton-Na that I took a dose and in a very short time this fine old Indian Rem-

PICTURE PATTERN

Favorite Sports Type.

The Style No. 2735 is something quite different in the way of sports dress, inasmuch as it simulates the tuck-in type through belt normal waistline. It is a copy from a French model in light navy blue faille silk crepe showing effective colour scheme in chartreuse silk crepe used for collar and tab cuffs, which colour also appears in suede belt. The pointed treatment of bodice, that just pretends a closing, has an inserted plaited frill of matching blue georgette crepe.

The pattern is designed in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust and has a Picture Chart with complete instructions as to how it is made.

In ordering pattern clip the design shown or order by number, and be sure to specify the size you want. Write your name and address plainly, enclosing 15 cents and mail to Fashion Department, East Liverpool Review. From 7 to 10 days are required for delivery of patterns.

NEW FASHION BOOK containing all the Spring styles is 15 cents, but may be obtained for 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

STAMFORD GETS ANIMAL HOSPITAL

STAMFORD, Conn.—Provision for an animal hospital to be established in her former home here and backed by a trust fund of $80,000 are contained in the will left by Mrs. Theodore B. Smart, widow of a prominent hat manufacturer who died here recently.

A caretaker is provided for in the will. The house provided for the purpose, the Smart homestead, is in the heart of the city.

Thousands of women find in Owa-Ton-Na a particularly beneficial aid in the elimination of harmful toxic poisons which bring about characteristic ailments peculiarly their own. edy started to give me results. It was just like lifting a big load from my shoulders, so great was the relief. My nerves quieted down, elimination began to be normal, my appetite improved until I could hardly get enough to eat, yet food digested properly and caused me no trouble."

"Thank goodness, these terrible backaches and headaches are gone again and I can go to sleep and get a good night's sleep. I get up in the morning refreshed and feel like doing my work. I want to say that Owa-Ton-Na is especially good for a change of life and I feel there is nothing equal to it; and can safely recommend it to anyone."

Sufferers should not hesitate in giving this remedy a trial. The Owa-Ton-Na that Mrs. Judy recommends so highly is daily being explained to eager health seekers at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 E. 6th St., East Liverpool, Ohio, by a special laboratory representative who will be glad to tell you about its merits. Why not call today and have a talk with her about your own case? Owa-Ton-Na is also sold at Carnahan's East End Store and Newell, W. Va. Store.

WRAPS FOR EVENING WEAR

An absolutely unique cloak is the one on the left, of dull gold lace, printed in an intricate design of pink and blue. It is trimmed with luscious sable fur, and makes a stunning wrap for all formal occasions. The ingenious cape on the right is in direct contrast with this be-furred wrap. It is very simply fashioned, with an all-over design on a silver cloth foundation. The border is of peach georgette and is a most practical adjunct to any wardrobe, as it may serve for any sort of informal occasion.

ANNIE LAURIE'S TIMELY ADVICE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl fourteen years of age, I will be fifteen in April. My mother works and she has a cook. The other day a girl friend came over to see me, to ask me could I work any of her algebra problems. I didn't know how so I called up one of my friends, a boy. I have known him and his brother a long while. The one I called is twenty, and his brother is twenty-five.

I dictated the problem to him and he worked it and gave us all the work over the phone. After we studied a while we could not understand different parts of the example, I did not see why there would be any harm in my calling him again to ask him about it. His brother answered and I told him I would like to speak to his brother; he then asked me who I was. About this time the cook (who doesn't seem at times to like me at all, and she takes spells of being hateful) told me in a hateful tone that I had better stop calling boys over my mother's phone. This made me so mad I hung up. I know I did wrong, and what must I tell this boy when I see him next week? And now I want to ask you was there any harm in calling the boy.

Now what I am afraid of is that when the cook tells mother about it she will not tell it right. I don't want my mother to think I am a bad girl and cannot be trusted. What shall I do? If I had seen any harm in this I would not have called.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl eighteen years old and am going with a young man nineteen years old. He seems to love me, but is very jealous of me. Is it right for me to continue going with him? I really seem to like him at times but then again I don't.

BLUE EYED SALLY

BLUE EYED SALLY: If you are not engaged, then you should not confine your friendship to one man. Have many friends, for only in this way will you eventually find Mr. Right. If the young man truly loved you he would prove it by a proposal of marriage. Until that time, you have the right to have as many friends as you desire.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl sixteen years of age. I'm in love with a man of thirty. My parents have announced our engagement and seem very happy over it.

He wants to kiss me all the time, but for the last two times he has come, he hasn't kissed me at all.

Please tell me do you think he is getting tired of me?

ago we had a quarrel and don't speak now. He has my ring and will not return it to me.

Would it be proper for him to keep it and not even speak to me?

BOB,

BOB: If you have asked the young man to return your ring, he certainly should do so. However, if he refuses, why not ask an older brother or your parents to request that he return it immediately. And don't let any one take such valuable things unless you are engaged.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I have been going with a girl for several months and enjoy her company very much but recently I have met with a girl whom I feel is the only girl for me. I am at loss to know just what to do about the former girl. I do not think I should quit her in an abrupt way. I should dislike very much to hurt her feelings.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a girl in my early teens. About a year ago I fell in love with a boy, eight years my senior. About a month ago I had a friend in the truest sense of the word.

Please advise me as to what would be an honorable course of action for me to follow.

UNCERTAIN.

UNCERTAIN: You are not engaged to this young lady, therefore, it is your privilege to have as many girl friends as you desire. In order not to hurt her feelings too much, you can begin by making fewer engagements with her. Gradually, if you so desire, break off the friendship in this way. I am sure if she has been such a true friend to you that she will understand your affections are placed elsewhere and wish you all the luck in the world.

Cigarette Stains Instantly Removed

Cigarette stained fingers are embarrassing and offensive. You can quickly and easily remove them by spraying a little "Perxine" powder on a wet cloth and gently rubbing it over the discolored spots. It works like a charm. A cigarette smoker discovered this uses several sprays a day for the benefit of his fellow-smokers.

Get a little "Perxine" powder from your drug store and try it—Adv.

Chester Planning To Retain Berth In City Baseball Circuit

Edwards Takes On Tough Boy

Chester Welter Meets Joe Todd in Six-round Monday.

COMPLETING his program last night by lining up his two four-round preliminaries, Matchmaker Ray Fouts of the Valley A. C., has arrangements well in hand for his fight program Monday night at the city hall auditorium, Wellsville.

Not the least interesting of the five events billed for the entertainment is the six-round semifinal between Fredy Edwards, the Chester welterweight who has yet to be stopped by any boy in his class, and Joe Todd, Donora (Pa.) slugger.

Edwards deserves much commendation for the record that he has established during the comparatively short period in which he has been fighting.

During the time he has been scrapping for clubs in East Liverpool and Wellsville, the West Virginian has never questioned an opponent or his own ability to take care of himself. Most of the time he knows nothing at all about the pug he's pitted against. He takes 'em as they come, and how he takes them!

Naturally he's not ready for the stars in his division yet. He's not had the experience. But, barring unforeseen accidents, he's due to arrive one of these days.

This Todd he is scheduled to colide with Monday night can not be beat as a setup, by any means.

One of the best testimonials to his ability, and one which can afford localistic followers a means of comparison, is his victory, recently, over Johnny Vivio, the Bloomfield welterweight, who has fought on numerous occasions in this district.

Last week at McKeesport, Todd trounced Jack McCarthy. Edwards, too, has beaten McCarthy. So that makes that score even. Todd licked Bob Smoter not so long ago, and has fought many other lads in his own weight classification.

He comes recommended as being just as tough as Edwards.

In the opening four-round preliminary, Sambo Brown, colored favorite, will tackle Frankie Palermo, Sebring lightweight. In the other, Tommy Chaplow, Sebring, mixes with Battling Bloom, Salineville coal miner.

As an additional feature, Matchmaker Fouts has arranged for an opening exhibition between "Ivan and Frankie," the "Cuban Wildcats" Ivan and Frankie are a couple of 85-pounders, making their headquarters in Alliance. They showed in Canton prior to the Zivie-Ramies fight and put on their stunt last night before the McFowler-Jackson mill in Alliance. The kids are fast, clever and know a lot about boxing.

KE MC FOWLER, Pittsburgh colored heavyweight, and Tu Jackson, of Washington C. H., battled to a 10-round draw last night at Alliance. The action was tame all the way, and as far as the ringards could ascertain, there was not a damaging blow struck during the milling. McFowler claimed a couple of injured thumbs after the scrap.

The rest of the program, however, gave the fans plenty of fistie whoopee. In the four bouts prior to the main, there were three knockouts. Walter O'Keefe, Alliance lightweight, stopped Georgia Brown, Pittsburgh, in the fifth of their scheduled six. Jackie Welsh, Sebring, made short work of

LACROSSE CHAMP

The Sport Jigger

By the Sports Editor

KENNY DAVIS is tired of being a "four-rounder."

The local featherweight chin lifter has been compelled to do his stuff in the prelim class as a result of physical shortcomings. And any buster will tell you that there's little glory in this . . .

And less dough!

Davis seems to know what it's all about . . . which gives him an edge over a lot of the boys.

But his "breather" is limited to about four stanzas, so he's going to have the kinks taken out of his nose. This operation, in the opinion of the medics, should prove the open sesame to a bright fistic future.

His physician expects to do something none of his opponents have ever done . . . give him the air.

For Davis has shown plenty of class in his fights around here, and if his operation succeeds, he's bound to show plenty more. Here's hoping!

DEMON DAMON RUNYON gives the low-down on the pronunciation of Herr Schmeling and Don Paolino Uzcedun. You say Schmeling like this—Schmeling. And you pronounce Uzcedun

With a terrible effort.

Josephus Humphries, the silvry-tongued announcer, when he runs into a guy like this Orcay Umby, the bezzark of the Basque, just bundles the name up under his larynx and heaves it at the mob in a chunk.

Judge Emil Euchs is vindicated. The Red Sox won three in a row.

And now we learn why the cream pufl would never make a good baseball. It's all on account of the indifferent cohesion of its molecular contents.

KE MCFOWLER, the Pittsburgh colored heavyweight, collided with Tut Jackson, that venerable old Washington "Cotehouse" boxer who three or four years ago was up there with Harry Wills, the Black Panther, in a 10-roundner last night at Alliance.

Here's what the judges did . . . two voted a draw and one no contest!

Which was a slight error, considering they let it go the limit. But then, the whole thing was pretty much of An error . . . so maybe that last one was right, figuratively speaking!

But then, comparisons sometimes play queer pranks. Watching two lumbering heavyweights after feasting your eyes on a bevy of quicker little fellows is like riding a slow freight after flitting about in a roller coaster.

Nurmi Will Show His Shanks In Two-Miler at Penn Relays

Athletes From All Points Of Compass Assembled In Philadelphia for Two-day Competition.

By Davis J. Walsh.

P HILADELPHIA, Pa., April 26.—Paavo Nurmi, the college man from the Bronx, will die for dear old Hugo Quist in a special two-mile race against the watch at the annual Pennsylvania relay carnival today, while 3,299 earnest athletes proceed to run around the rain-soaked enclosure until reason totters on its throne, included among the latter are the famed Barney Berlinger and Tom Churchill, who with ten other diehards, will compete in the all around event, starting this morning. The start will be early but it can't be bright. According to the rules of the contest, the carnival doesn't count unless it rains.

All points on the compass were assembled at the zone for the forty-eight hours of competitive madness, the entries coming from Wisconsin, Ohio State, Michigan State, Chicago and Indiana in the middle west; Punahoa academy in far off Hawaii; Georgia Tech in the south; Oklahoma in the southwest and, of course, from virtually the entire east.

Ohio to Show Simpson.

Ohio State will show the latest sensation of the track world, George Simpson, both today and tomorrow.

Simpson was clocked in world's record time for the century and furlong dashes no longer ago than Saturday last.

Berlinger and Churchill, members of the last Olympic team, are the big play for the decathlon, since they are presumed to be a composite of Jim Thorpe and Osborn while combining the best features of both.

They are reported to topple the carnival record of 7,236,553 points during the excitement, as Churchill won the Kansas relay title last Saturday with more than 7,400 points and Berlanga spread-eagled his event at the Illinois relays last winter.

Leo Sexton, Georgetown, and Robert L. Todd, Indiana, also are highly fancied in this event and, if the competition grows sufficiently rancorous, Faite Elkins' national record of 7,574,42 might go down in the ruins.

Nurmi, the one-man traveling tent show, will go after the American outdoor record for two miles, 9:17 4/5, made by Tel Berna some 15 years ago.

He also has declared for beating Wile's world record of 9:01 2/5—but the old trim shanks, they ain't what they used to be. Tomorrow Nurmi will operate on his own three mile record, if possible. Next week, East Lynne.

Nurmi in Spotlight Today.

The Finn is thought to have a better chance at the records for longer distances and so his first appearance on an American outdoor track in four years may not be without its record.

Whatever he does tomorrow, however, he will have to share honors with Sturdy, the 14-foot pole vaulter; Simpson, the 9:10 sprinter; Leo Lemond, the 4:15 miler who will try for a new American record at the distance and a great field in general.

Today, he virtually has the stage alone, except for the all-around event. Simpson will run this afternoon but only in the 440 yard relay championship which with the co-operation of Howard Kriss, ought to go to Ohio State. The rest of the good ones are good, indeed, but they are not yet ready to out-Nurmi even the slightly spavined Nurmi of today.

RAIN KEEPS HENS, SENATORS IDLE

COLUMBUS, O., April 26.—Ohio's two entrants in the American association baseball race, Toledo and Columbus, were rained out of their games yesterday on the home lots. The Mud Hens were scheduled to meet the Milwaukee Brewers in the third game of their series, and the Toledo officials called off the game after an all-night rain, which was succeeded by a terrific downpour in the afternoon.

The Senators were to play the third game of their series with the Kansas City Blues, yesterday, and just as the players were lining up on the field, a torrential downpour hit Neil park, but not for half an hour later did officials postpone the game.

A big league team from the Buckeye state, the Cincinnati Reds in the National league, took the count of Jape Phivius yesterday. Their contest with the Pittsburgh Pirates was also called off on account of rain.

They are reported to topple the carnival record of 7,236,553 points during the excitement, as Churchill won the Kansas relay title last Saturday with more than 7,400 points and Berlanga spread-eagled his event at the Illinois relays last winter.

FIVE-FOOT RISE IN OHIO RIVER HERE EXPECTED

Allegheny and Monongahela Rising, Pittsburgh Advises.

STAGE 17.4 FEET

Forty-second Tow of Steel Sent to South.

Pittsburgh reports today predicted another rise of five or six feet in the Ohio river here by midnight. The stage at Dam No. 8 at noon was stationary at 17 1/4 feet. The Allegheny and Monongahela rivers started to rise late last night.

The steamer Betsy Ann will arrive here tonight from Cincinnati, en route to Pittsburgh. The Liberty is due tonight from Pittsburgh, bound for Wheeling, W. Va.

The United States boat Greenbrier, light tender for the Ohio river between Pittsburgh and Cairo, passed here this morning enroute to southern ports. The Old Reliable, with one empty barge in charge, passed here yesterday afternoon for Weirton, W. Va. The Labelle towed nine barges of coal to Wheeling yesterday.

Carnegie Ships Steel.

The forty-second tow of manufactured steel products was sent out by the Carnegie Steel company yesterday for southern ports. The steamer City of Pittsburgh left the Pittsburgh harbor last night with a tow of 13 barges with approximately 1,000 tons of steel products in charge of Captain Calvin Blazier as master with Fred Erwin and Lou Bradford at the wheel.

The steamer Isthmian of the Carnegie Lines of steamers assisted the big boat with her tow including three barges of fuel as far as Bellaire, from which port the latter boat will return with a tow of empty barges.

The steamer Monongahela of the same line with Captain John A. Hotell in charge is due to pass Cairo today on her way to Pittsburgh with a tow of empties including three barges loaded with sulphur and one barge loaded with flue spar, the latter picked up at Rosie Clare. Another tow of steel products for early delivery is being loaded now.

The motorship Alabama, constructed at the marine ways of the Carnegie Steel company, Coal Valley, made her trial trip yesterday, taking a tow of empties up the Monongahela river to the mines and returning with a tow of loaded barges. This boat is due to leave the Pittsburgh harbor today with Captain Frank A. Gould and Dave McDonald in charge of the wheel.

American Bridge Busy.

The American Bridge company completed and delivered an order of six steel flush deck type barges for the sand and gravel trade for J. K. Davison and Brothers. They are each 135-25x7 feet for which approximately 1,600 tons of steel plate and shapes were used. Seven barges out of an order of 20 for the United States engineers of the Rock Island district are now being assembled on the ways. These barges are each 100x24x5 feet.

The packet General Wood, of the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati Packet Company, will be inspected Wednesday at the Pittsburgh wharf. It has not been decided if the boat will either enter the Cincinnati or Charleston trade. Edgar Brookhart will be master; Dan Patchell, pilot; Dave Phillips, chief engineer; John Heath, second engineer; Andrew Zollinger, steward, and Captain William Pollock, purser and general manager. The packet Betsy Ann will arrive tomorrow from Cincinnati and leave at night for that port.

Pittsburgh's Own Boat.

The United States engineers of the Chattanooga district soon will ask bids for the construction of a towboat. The Standard Unit Navigation Company, St. Louis, will ask bids in the near future for a fleet of towboats for service on the Illinois, Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

Captain William B. Rodgers, who with a party of Pittsburghers purchased the excursion steamer Homer

It's pretty early to go swimming—the water is cold and the beach deserted. Otherwise you wouldn't see Rosalie running along half dressed. She is wearing her new bathing suit with its "built-in" brassiere. It is of the same material as her bathing suit, which is jersey and, of course, such troublesome things as shoulder straps, hooks, buttons and safety pins—are eliminated.

JAPANESE DRUG EXPORTS INCREASE

TOKYO.—Chemicals, drugs, medicines and explosives exported from Japan during 1928 amounted to $19,154,000, according to the Ministry of Finance. The largest export value goes to pyrethrum, insect powder which totaled $3,743,837, doubling that for 1927 and next comes camphor. Menthhol crystal also went off from 1927 but insect powder rose sharply, according to the official figure.

Young Farmers' clubs, composed of farmers' children under the age of 18 who are supplied with calves, pigs, sheep and chickens which they must rear, are being formed in all parts of Britain.

PLANS DRAFTED FOR WELFARE MEET MAY 22

R. C. Heddleston Named
On Lisbon Conference Committee.

PROGRAM READY

Three Counties Will Send Leaders to Session.

Russell C. Heddleston has been appointed a member of a committee which will make plans for a district child welfare conference to be held in the First Presbyterian church, Lisbon, Wednesday, May 22. Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, Lisbon, is chairman of the committee.

Visitors from Mahoning, Carroll and Columbiana counties will attend the conference which will be under the direction of the Division of Charities, State Department of Public Welfare.

The Lisbon meeting will be the twenty-second of a series of 28 district conferences to be held in various parts of the state this spring, according to Miss Bell Greve, superintendent of the Division of Charities. District conferences, 11 in number, held for the first time last year in Ohio were attended by more than 2,000 people.

Purpose of the conference is to create greater interest in social problems.

Among the speakers will be Miss Greve, of Columbus. Round table discussion of local problems will be a feature of the program at the conference which is open to the public. Public officials, representatives of the American Legion, members of service clubs, ministers, educators, club women and social workers will attend. Miss Beatrice Minich of the Division of Charities, Columbus, who is in charge of the organization of the district conferences, was in East Liverpool recently making plans for the Lisbon meeting.

FRENCH PHONE
SERVICE POOREST

PARIS.—"The French telephone service is the cheapest in the world," says Germain-Martin, official of the Paris Telephone company.

"And also the poorest," add many thousands of subscribers who are just beginning to grow tired of their daily tussles with the telephone.

If the telephone system in France were even one-half as good as one finds in all other cities of the world, they say they would not object to the proposed increase in rates. But since no improvements have ever been attempted, higher prices would be unfair.

The Olympia, one of the best known of Paris music halls, and visited by many American tourists, is to be converted into a motion picture theater.

Readin', Ritin', Rithmetic At School--No Home Work

New System Good News
For New York
Pupils.

Boys and girls, don't you just wish you were going to school in New York? Just listen to the good news about home work. The school leaders promised not to give the New York boys and girls very much work outside of school hours.

Yes, sir, Dr. William J. O'Shea, superintendent of schools in New York, must have remembered his school days when he issued orders to reduce the students' home work to a minimum. Here's the way the schedule will run:

No home work during the first four years. Then for three years only light work requiring not over an hour to accomplish. "However," writes Dr. O'Shea, "pupils may be encouraged to read all home supplementary readers and books which are included in the courses of study."

Parents
Teachers
Children

of the
BROWNIE

Dr. William J. O'Shea,
(International Newsreel.)

"Of more importance than home study lessons or home work is the proper use of the study periods in schools and the development in pupils of the art of study."

Monotonous tasks such as writing sentences and words repeatedly are frowned on because they become so distasteful to the students and make their school work a drudgery without teaching them to use their minds.

This radical change is a step in a new direction for public schools

APPENDICITIS ADDICTS WARNED AGAINST WITNESSING "JONESY"

By DAVID P. SENTNER.
(Copyright, 1929, by International News Service.)

NEW YORK.—You never find one mosquito without his pal, trouble is always plural—and always waits until a man is on his back before you turn him over and fry him.

That is the general theme-song of "Jonesy," the farce-comedy by Anne Morrison and John Peter Toohey, presented by Earle Booth.

A horde of nomadic imps scurry through the plot, biting Mr. and Mrs. Jones' legs, ruffling the hair of their tow-headed son Wilbur, alias "Jonesy" and throwing chuckle water over the entire audience.

These imps trot hither and yon in the first act, gallop hilariously in the second and sprint like bad news in the last act.

Appendicitis suspects would do well by themselves to stay away from this frivolity of the season.

"Jonesy" (Raymond Golon) is as ingenuous as a kitten biting the milkman. Although the greengrass approach of "Jonesy" toward life and love is charming generally, I wondered how any lad in these sapphony times could be so freshman "Jonesy" is more than green, he is gangrene.

The youth represented by "Jonesy" and his boy and girl friends might be called rosy-cheeked but hardly flaming. And the parentage of this circle is of that vintage even, which believes that actresses are to be distinguished from the remainder of their sex through their cultivation of the three "S's"—smoking, swearing and swilling liquor.

To be sure, "Jonesy" gambles—that is to say he plays poker. In as much as this pastime has been referred to as the Great American Game and having not yet been banned by any constitutional amendment, it is questionable as to how sinful a rating it deserves.

I liked the way "Jonesy" made his love with wide-eyed earnestness.

I like the absence of tar-oil, bacon grease and other clinging ingredients from the unslicked blond locks of "Jonesy."

And I could almost agree with the ecstatic woman behind me who kept gushing "He's just all boy" except for the fact that "Jonesy" talked like a bright 14-year-old but had the physiques of the bouncer in my favorite night club.

Pa Jones (Donald Meek) should be remembered on Daddy's day. If ever a parent was the Patsy of Patsyland it was Old Man Jones. Just as he was about to land a fat job through Stanley Jackson, his wife and himself all but threw Jackson's niece out of their house because "Jonesy" wanted to marry her. Of course, they didn't know that she was the niece, or it would have been lots of applesauce to the windward.

And there is never any hot water for Pa, never any desert left for Pa, never any laundry for Pa—only midnight black grief.

The plot has too many kinks in it to bend over your heads but it sprouts from the ambition of "Jonesy" to marry Diana Devereaux (Helen Brooks). Diana appears in scanties in a stage production and is arrayed verbally in cheesecloth and ashes until folks find out that she is a rich man's niece.

Diana Westman as Mildred Hills, played the little girl next door. With her comely youth, her comical lines and her voice like a nice old lady's she was the feather under your chin.

Combined Gardens Latest.

For the benefit of those who enjoy gardening without the digging part, a new plan is being tried in Cheltenham, England. Instead of allotting square pieces of lands for amateur vegetable raisers, long ribbons of land are substituted and are laid edge to edge so that they may be ploughed by machinery, thus doing away with the back-breaking digging. The idea is being well received by amateur gardeners.

Riviera May Be Flowerless.

Aftermath results of the heavy frost along the Riviera may cause that popular resort to be without flowers next winter. Many gardens were destroyed, and trees killed. The mimosa bushes in the garden of Miss Tennyson Jesse, the popular novelist, at Beauvalon, were so badly injured that they will not bloom again for three years. Many other gardens were similarly affected.

More than 1,000 American citizens are living in South Africa.

NEW YORK BROKER COMMUTES BY BOAT

DARIEN, Conn.—Walter E. Sachs, New York stock broker, has a new medium of commuting between his home on Delafield Island, Long Island Sound and New York. He will use the express boat "You'll Do, II," which has just been launched. Many New York residents are now commuting from this district by their own speedy express motor boats running back and forth through the East River and the Sound, and so far not even aircraft show signs of competing with them to any marked extent.

The quickness with which Resinol Soap and Ointment act in most cases of skin disorder amazes many people. Itching is often stopped at once. The soap cleanses the skin and prepares it to receive the ointment, which soothes and heals. The daily use of Resinol Soap for the toilet and bath is unequalled for keeping the skin clear, soft and youthful. Note its tonic odor.

Stops Fade and "Soap Eat" Even When Ordinary Laundry Soap Is Used

Fragile hosiery and delicate-tinted French lingerie can now be washed frequently; but still protected from soap eat or fading color, even when ordinary laundry soap or powders are used.

Under the new method described here, even faintest pastel colors in fine lingerie or delicately tinted hosiery hold fast, according to recent tests, for as many as 50 washings, without noticeable fade or wear.

The method is very simple: To each tubful of water (or washer filled to the water line) you merely add 2 tablespoons of a preparation called CLIMALENE and use just ONE-FOURTH the quantity of soap you ordinarily use. Then proceed with washing as usual. (For small wash basins, use 1 teaspoonful of CLIMALENE.)

This preparation is used by experts to stop fade and "soap eat." It acts by converting hard, or semi-hard water to

To the man who thinks all motor oils are alike

TWO PAIRS of shoes may look alike, fit equally well, and sell for the same price. But that's no sign they are alike.

Two kinds of oil may seem as much alike as twins. Yet vital differences in character appear at once when you check them point by point.

the 4 essentials of complete and proper lubrication

1. LOW CARBON CONTENT
2. NON-FOULING CARBON
3. IDEAL BODY AT ALL OPERATING TEMPERATURES
4. LOW POUR POINT

Thousands of automobile owners have found that one oil—Shell Motor Oil—meets these four requirements in every way.

Many otherwise good lubricants produce excessive carbon of a hard, flinty nature. The little carbon which forms in an engine lubricated by Shell, is soft, fluffy—the kind that does not cling to motor parts but actually blows out with the exhaust gases.

Regular users of Shell Motor Oil report a marked reduction in carbon removal jobs :: They enjoy freedom from power losses due to carbon accumulations, "frozen" piston rings and pitted valves.

And because Shell Motor Oil has ideal body at all operating temperatures, users find it as safe at sixty miles an hour as at twenty. Shell won't break down.

With body and stamina, Shell provides a low pour point to insure easy starting in cold weather. Motorists who depend on Shell don't have to risk changing to a lighter-bodied oil in winter.

Shell Motor Oil is today's outstanding development in the science of automobile lubrication. Shell crude comes from hand-picked wells. Refined by the new and exclusive Shell-developed, low-temperature process. Never scorched, never weakened by the heat of ordinary refining practice. Tested 259 times to certify the unvarying quality of every quart.

Make any test of that quality you want. Put Shell Motor Oil over the road in the hardest kind of service. Shell best proves itself by performance :: thrives on comparison.

Stop at the Sign of the Shell

And let the Shell Lubrication
Chart be your guide. You'll find convenient attendants at the familiar yellow and red service stations. Convenient everywhere.

Display of Picture Recalls Recruiting Of World War Company E, 12 Years Ago

East Liverpool Unit Was Led by Capt.
Hill.

Though it seems but yesterday when members of the contingent were passing in and out of the Y. M. C. A. building, East Fourth street, and later breaking ranks and having their daily roll call before the headquarters in what is now the Loyal Order of Moose building, a dozen years have elapsed since the World war company E of East Liverpool was initially recruited. And one year more than three decades have passed since the Spanish-American war Company E entrained as a part of the "McKinley's Own" on a journey that carried them into action in the tropical climate of Cuba.

Those April days came back vividly recently when Clarence West, member of the 1917 aggregation, exhibited in an uptown restaurant a photograph of the second Company E in front of its camping site in Camp Sheridan, Montgomery, Ala.

Men and women stopped to look at the likenesses of the men who formed the enlistment coterie.

Reunion Suggested.

On all sides came the suggestion that the time was opportune in the near future for a reunion of these men.

Both the World war and Spanish-American war Company E was led by the same man—Captain William Hill of East Third street.

The photograph was taken by a Cleveland concern at Camp Sheridan on Jan. 18, 1918, almost a year after the first enlistments.

Taken just in front of the streets on which were encamped the East Liverpool, Steubenville and Salem members of the National Guard to which the soldiers had been assigned as a part of the famous 27th division, some 130 of its 150 men were shown. The others who were not in the picture were on special detail or absent on leaves or furloughs.

"Sergeant Slim" Remembered.

Seated on the ground in the center of the first of three rows in which they were taken are Captain Hill, Lieuts. W. L. Smith, Jr., Millard Blythe, Lester McNeel and William R. Atkinson of Dayton, who following arrival at the camp had been assigned to the company.

Standing on the extreme right end is the elongated Sergeant Walter Irwine, who, because of his great height, was known as "Sergeant Slim." Alongside him is Sergeant Leroy Wise, the Sixth street druggist.

In the front row is Top Sergeant Bernard Powell, who did much to aid in the training of the boys while they were still raw recruits in East Liverpool. Powell is now a member of the Royal Mounted Police of Canada.

Corporal David H. Jones, formerly of Wellsville, is now said to be in China where for some time he has been connected with a steel mill.

Sitting on the right of Capt. Hill in the picture, is Sergeant Chester Smith, now one of the members of the East Liverpool police force and who for a period subsequent to the war was one of the doorkeepers of the house of representatives in Washington, D. C.

A feature of the picture is the spectacle of Sergeant Charles McCarron with a white rat on his shoulder. The latter was presented to him here as a pet and he carried it with him to the camp.

Company Clerks Willis Hall and Harlan Finley, Bugler Roy Green, "Toby" Watson, Bernard and Thomas O'Hanlon, Port Racey, Lee White, Quartermaster Sergeant Charles Applegate, who, with Captain Hill, was a member of the first Company E. Sergeant William Torrence and others were noted.

Back of the Company, standing on his shoe shining box, is to be seen the husky form of West himself. And

April Days Revive Memories of Trip to Alabama.

Just to the left of him are two civilians from East Liverpool, W. L. Smith, sr., and the late Attorney George E. Davidson. The latter, brother-in-law of Capt. Hill and the former the father of Lieut. Smith, were in the camp to visit their relatives and all of the boys with whom they were well acquainted.

Besides the white rat which Sergeant McCarron had with him, West recalled that the company had along as mascots three dogs: "Keyser," a White Spaniel, "Bum," a bulldog, and "Don," a Spaniel.

West said that "Bum" failed to withstand the rigors of camp life and that he himself brought "Keyser" back to Wellsville when he returned to East Liverpool with also six puppies born to her.

In the picture also may be seen the then youthful form of Frank S. Hoover, the present city solicitor.

Germans Like Paper Clothes.

Germans are taking much interest in the new paper clothing which is being introduced by a German manufacturer. He claims that it is waterproof, yet can be washed, affords ample circulation of air, does not crease, can be restored to its proper shape by shaking, and weighs about one-twelfth that of an ordinary material. Many such suits will be worn during the coming summer.

White? Not these clothes!

THERE was plenty of soap. The clothes were scrubbed thoroughly, and rinsed. But the water was hard. The soap mixed with the hard water, and formed a dirty ring around the basin—scum! The scum got into the fabric of the clothes. That's why the clothes weren't clean.

But they can be clean. How? By washing them in soft water. And how can hard water be made soft? By adding Melo. The water is now a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap; and the soap much more effective. Get a can today at your grocer's.

Say Men!

Forbidden Door

Story of Adventurous Youth, Mystery, Fortune and a Girl.

By Herman Landen

He went to Peters' side. "I see you didn't go to bed, he observed.

The little man's embarrassment was comical. "No, I—you see—I felt it in my bones something of this kind was going to happen."

Mallingham fixed him with a dark, searching look. "You might have given me a friendly warning."

" Didn't think it was necessary." Peters' face twisted into a wry grin. "Had an idea you knew more about what was going to happen than anybody else."

"Just what makes you say that?"

"A little birdie told me, Mally."

"You take your information from queer sources."

"One has to, sometimes. Tell me, Mally, where did you go after dinner this evening? You came back all soaked."

"Ask the birdie," said Mallingham. He wondered just how much the little man knew of his movements this evening.

"By the way, who is the gentleman with the incendiary hair?" He indicated a tall, youngish person with astonishingly red hair who had just entered.

"I never saw him before, Mally, but my guess is that he is the physician who is attending the mysterious young lady who arrived last night. I understand his name is Dr. Speck. Wonder how the patient is getting on."

At this point the caretaker returned with two servants who had assisted him in closing the shutters all over the house. John announced that the sun parlor, which occupied a separate wing and constituted an addition to the original building, had collapsed. It was John's opinion that the original wall would hold a while longer.

"That sounds bad," said Peters. He trembled as an ominous creaking sounded overhead. "I wish those noises would stop. They give me the jimmies. What's going to happen to us, Mally?"

"Hard telling. We'll know soon whether we are going to be buried alive or permitted to live long enough to die some other kind of death."

"You're a cool one, Mally. Have you no fear, no regrets?"

"What would be the use? Have you?"

"Why, yes. If this is going to be the end of little old Horace Peters, I wish I'd taken a chance on the iron door." He fingered his large, bulbous nose. "The clock is still running, I suppose, Mally?"

"It was a few minutes ago. You might go and look for yourself."

But Peters seemed to have no inclination to do so. He glanced nervously about the room, at the chattering men and women, and then his glance stopped on the fireplace. The few charred logs on the andirons were emitting a feeble, flickering glow. His mouth opened in surprise.

"Look, Mally! Notice the smoke? There isn't much of it, but see where it's going."

Mallingham nodded. "Yes, I've noticed it. The smoke is coming into the room instead of going up the chimney. There is an obstruction somewhere. For all we know, there may be several thousand tons of snow, gravel and rocks over our heads."

Peters trembled. "You say that as coolly as if this was an anthill and we were an army of ants and somebody was poking a stick in our midst."

"Why not? This house is pretty solidly constructed, but it can't stand that kind of strain indefinitely. Something is bound to give. We might as well face the truth."

"Keep your darned truth to yourself," said Peters with grim earnestness. "I want to think about pleasant things while I'm alive. I want to feast my eyes on pretty girls. There's Mrs. Martenet's maid, for instance. Her name is Kate Wynne, isn't it?"

Mallingham smiled. Peters' flippances, he knew, were like the whistling of a small boy trying to keep up his courage in the dark. He favored Kate Wynne with an appreciative glance as she administered smelling salts to her mistress. She was a lark, slim, very pretty girl full of unconscious coquettishness.

As he watched her, he became aware that still another person was interested in the maid.

"You have a competitor," he told the little man. "Look at Dr. Speck."

Peters' glance traveled to the young physician, standing a little aloof from the others. He was fixing the maid with a dreamy and adoring look that showed all the symptoms of a sudden and violent infatuation.

"That hick!" Peters snorted. "Looks as if he ought to be a horse doctor. Kate has been looking after the mysterious young lady upstairs. That's how this courted pill-mixer got acquainted with her. If I live long enough, I'm going to knock some of those gold teeth out of his jaws. Look at him, Mally. He looks like the United States mint whenever he smiles."

"I'm going to let some of this smoke out," Mallingham announced.

He stepped to the door, flung it open, then drew back a step in surprise. The corridor outside was deserted, but he had a clear and sharp impression that some one had sprung back into the shadows as he opened the door. He had caught a moment's glimpse of a face, and the face had brought a rush of poignant sensations to his brain.

Steadying himself, he ran down the corridor. Sharp hammering blows fell on his ears, mingling with the creaking and snapping of timbers. He knew that the caretaker, with two of Mrs. Martenet's male servants, was bracing the outer doors and the windows against the constantly increasing pressure of the grinding and sagging mass outside. Postponing the hour of destruction, was Mallingham's thought.

At the end of the corridor, he looked back over it in the light of the electric bulb in the ceiling, glanced up the curving sweep of the stairway and stood scanning the dusk with eyes infinitely alert. He must have another glimpse of that face even if this were to be his last hour on earth. But the face was gone; it appeared to have vanished into the creaking and tortured depths of the house.

A prolonged, rending roar sounded overhead. Once more he glanced up the stairway well. The overloaded roof was cracking in places. But that face—?

He went back to the library, buzzing with hysterical voices. Doctor Speck, like an overgrown romantic boy, stood gazing moodily at Kate Wynne. Julia was reclining on the couch, and he could not tell whether she had fainted or gone to sleep. Peters, with a gray film on his mottled features and an unsteady grin on his lips, came forward.

"You look scared, Mally," said the little man. "At least I know you're human. Shake?"

They shook hands, Mallingham with the air of humorizing a youth. Their eyes met; Peters jerked back a little. His own eyes widened with astonishment.

"Mercy, Mally, you look as if you'd seen a ghost!"

"Don't be an idiot," snapped Mallingham; and just then darkness descended suddenly over the room. Peters gave a startled gasp. Somewhere a woman screamed.

"Don't be alarmed!" Mallingham called out. Shaken though he was, his voice sounded steady. "Something has happened to the lights, that's all. The dynamo is in a separate building. It has probably collapsed."

He struck a match and lighted the stately red and green candles on the mantelshelf. His hand was firm again, although his mind was haunted by a vision. As he turned away, a great splintering crash sounded overhead. There was something awful and blood-freezing in that mighty uproar. In an instant all voices were stilled. There was a period of waiting, of horrible suspense. The moments dragged agonizingly.

"We'll all be dead before morning," said Peters, fumbling with the button on Mallingham's coat. The forced levity in his voice gave it a ghastly ring. "Anyhow, Dr. Speck is a kiss ahead of the game. I saw him—"

Once more a thunderous crack shook the house. The awfulness of it silenced every tongue. Like a frightened herd the occupants of the room drew closer together. The candles wavered, projecting a ghostly shimmer into the far corners. Again came that horrible, suspenseful hush. Then a chime fell melodiously, mockingly on the fear-ridden stillness.

Old Winthrop's clock was striking the hour of 4.

Amarilloans Not "Hicks," Won't Pay for Cut Opera

Guarantors of Deficit Dare Company to

The citizens of Amarillo, Texas, are up in arms against the Chicago Civic Opera Company since the perfor-ance there of "Thais" a short while ago. Mary Garden, as prima donna of the opera, came in for her share of it.

It seems the Texans offered the Chicago company a guarantee of $12,500 before it consented to play in the tiny town of Amarillo. Two checks were duly presented to the manager at the close of the performance—one for $10,000 and another post-dated for $2,500 to cover the deficit.

Today, however, the guarantors refuse to honor the check for the lesser amount, for very definite reasons, and they don't care who knows it. Col. Ernest O. Thompson, Mayor of Amarillo, acting as spokesman for the guarantors, said: "Amarillo is not a 'Toonerville,' and we do not intend to be taken for a ride by a big company from a big city. The performance was hurried and sloppy, and the performers were evidently saving their voices for what they considered more sophisticated audiences."

The claim that the piece was cut for Amarillo delectation gave further rise to the defense that "we are not hicks; we know our opera as well as metropolitan audiences, and we won't stand for any deletions."

The unkindest cut of all, however, was that aimed at the famous prima donna. The caustic editor of a local publication printed a few well-chosen remarks which wrung cries of retribution from the famous diva. But he hit his guns.

Sue and let sue, says Amarillo. They won't find us wanting if it comes to a showdown. We may be little, but oh my!
